From The East

Marshall Scott Henry - Master

Greetings from the East my Brothers. Well the weather has started to cool off, scary movies are in the theaters, pumpkin spice lattes are on the menu at Starbucks and the return of yoga pants with Uggs must mean Fall has returned. With the onset of Fall now here, preparations are in full swing for the new Masonic year, I find myself getting reflective. It's often during this time of year I ask myself similar questions: Why am I a Mason? Am I doing a good job at living up to my obligation? Is there more I should be doing? Am I properly dividing my time and commitments? And so on...

I've learned over the years it is common to have these kinds of thoughts and it is the act of questioning our place that strengthens our bond and commitment to the fraternity. Through reflection and open discussion, we can define our thoughts and even more importantly, highlight our strengths, we all too often lose sight of. Masonry is a lifelong journey in which we must all carve our own path; however, it is through the strength of our Brotherhood we find the courage to always move forward.

Before you know it, pumpkin farms will be replaced by Christmas tree lots and we will be reminded of the importance of family and the love of the season. Unfortunately, many of our cultural traditions of religion and family have dissipated over the generations. Whether you believe this is because of political correctness, a breakdown in family structure or just a change in times, Masonic traditions remain constant as a cornerstone of our fraternity. I recently read an excellent article, "Personal Integrity, the Cornerstone of Masonic Philosophy", which I will link at the end of my article. The article is written by Past Grand Master of Louisiana, Clayton J. Borne, III. I encourage everyone to take a few minutes of their day to read this article, Worshipful Clayton does an excellent job explaining why we, as Masons, do what we do; why it is so important; and how it is still relevant today in society. My hope is after reading this article many of our own questions may be answered, whether you are an officer or not. Because in short, what we do is important; it does matter and yes, in fact, it is absolutely worth it. The men of Oak Plains Lodge have much to be proud of and I hope each of you never forget this and always strive to come out of the dark and into the light.

The lodge is strong and its future bright. Be just, be faithful, be true; live by your obligations outside the lodge as well as inside and I promise you will always find the answers you seek.

Happy holidays to you all and may God bless you and all those who are close to your heart!

Greeting Brethren!

Well, we have survived another hot Sacramento summer and are now into fall. The days are starting to get shorter and the weather is starting to get more comfortable again. Around Oak Plains Lodge things are busy as ever with degrees, in June and July we raised Brother Perry and Brother Parker to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason. The officers of Oak Plains continue to get ready to move up into their new chairs at the end of the year and our lodge's first Annual Oktoberfest on October 21st from 5:00-10:00, be sure to invite your family and friends and make help to make this event a success! Many thanks to Bro. Mauricio Pasos for heading this event!

I have touched on several subjects that are important to me over this past year. I have talked about ritual excellence, more brotherhood events, and Masonic education. This time around I would like to talk about being a Mason outside of the lodge. How many of your friends, family and associates know you are a Mason? If they know, how do they know? Do they know by your words, your acts, or both? I am very open about being a Mason, it is a very important part of my life. I do my very best to live by Masonic principles and values at home, at work or anywhere I happen to be.

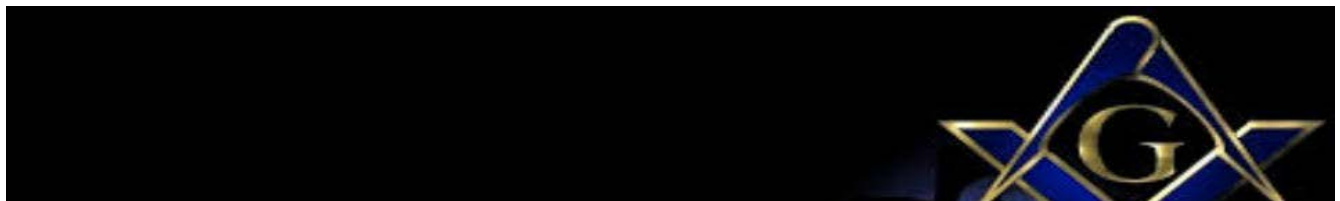

My challenge to you, my Brothers, is to do a quick self-evaluation and see if you are living the lessons Masonry has taught you. If not, adjust your acts to match what you have been taught. My wish is all of us at Oak Plains may be known by our acts as well as our words.

October, November and December are shaping up to busy as we will be initiating Mr. Jedediah Parker and Mr. Jake Palmyra into our fraternity. Please follow us on Facebook @oakplains789 or the lodge website www.lodge789.wpfreemason.net. The initiation dates will be posted once approved by the Worshipful Master. We would also like to welcome our newest member Bro. Gary Reynolds who has just affiliated to our lodge, if you see Bro. Reynolds around the lodge please take the time to say hello! We also have a couple of other prospective members who are attending the dinners and looking to apply to Oak Plains Lodge #789.

Well, that about wraps it up for now, take it easy and see you around the lodge!

Your Senior Warden,

Bro. David Meneley

From The South

Wor. William Brewer, PM – Junior Warden

From the South: I believe with all the unrest in the world today and America's role in those varied disputes, each Veterans Day, as it should, take on a new and solemn meaning for us all. In the regard I offer this message of hope, recognition and gratitude to those who served and those who are serving.

While looking on the internet for something that would inspire us, as Americans and as Masons, and which told the story, I found this brief history of Veterans Day published by the Office of Public and Intergovernmental Affairs, and offer it here for your examination and consideration. While all of us have some understanding of Veterans Day, I offer this deeper examination.

In my mind, Veterans Day has the same meaning and connotation as the Fourth of July and should be celebrated in the same regard; a sincere celebration of all, past and present, men and women who have served and continue to serve this great nation.

History of Veterans Day

World War I – known at the time as “The Great War” – officially ended when the Treaty of Versailles was signed on June 28, 1919 in the Palace of Versailles outside the town of Versailles, France. However, fighting ceased seven months earlier when an armistice or temporary cessation of hostilities, between the Allied nations and Germany went into effect on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month. For that reason, November 11, 1918, is generally regarded as the end of “the war to end all wars”

In November 1919, President Wilson proclaimed November 11 as the first commemoration of Armistice Day with the following words: “To us in America, the reflections of Armistice Day will be filled with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory, both because of the thing from which it has freed us and because of the opportunity it has given America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the councils of the nations...”

The original concept for the celebration was for a day observed with parades and public meetings and a brief suspension of business beginning at 11:00 a.m.

The United States Congress officially recognized the end of World War I when it passed a concurrent resolution on June 4, 1926, with these words:

Whereas the 11th of November 1918, marked the cessation of the most destructive, sanguinary, and far reaching war in human annals and the resumption by the people of the United States of peaceful relations with other nations, which we hope may never again be severed, and

Whereas it is fitting that the recurring anniversary of this date should be commemorated with thanksgiving and prayer and exercises designed to perpetuate peace through good will and mutual understanding between nations; and

Whereas the legislatures of twenty-seven of our States have already declared November 11 to be a legal holiday:

Now, Therefore be it Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), that the President of the United States is requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the officials to display the flag of the United States on all Government buildings on November 11 and inviting the people of the United States to observe the day in schools and churches, or other suitable places, with appropriate ceremonies of friendly relations with all other peoples.

An Act (53 Stat. 351; 5 U.S. Code, Sec. 87a) approved May 13, 1938, made the 11th of November in each year a legal holiday—a day to be dedicated to the cause of world peace and to be thereafter celebrated and known as “Armistice Day.” Armistice Day was primarily a day set aside to honor veterans of World War I, but in 1954, after World War II had required the greatest mobilization of soldiers, sailors, Marines and airmen in the Nation’s History; after American forces had fought aggression in Korea, the 83rd Congress, at the urging of the veterans service organizations, amended the Act of 1938 by striking out the word “Armistice” and inserting in its place the word “Veterans.” With the approval of this legislation (Public Law 380) on June 1, 1954, November 11th became a day to honor American veterans of all wars.

Later that same year, on October 8th, President Dwight D. Eisenhower issued the first “Veterans Day Proclamation” which stated: “In order to insure proper and widespread observance of this anniversary, all veterans, all veterans’ organizations, and the entire citizenry will wish to join hands in the common purpose. Toward this end, I am designating the Administrator of the Veterans’ Affairs as Chairman of a Veterans Day Committee, which shall include such other persons as the Chairman may select, and which will coordinate at the national level necessary planning for the observance. I am also requesting the heads of all departments and agencies of the Executive branch of Government to assist the National Committee in every way possible.”

On that same day, President Eisenhower sent a letter to the Honorable Harvey V. Higley, Administrator of Veterans’ Affairs (VA), designating him as Chairman of the Veterans Day Committee.

In 1958, the White House advised VA’s General Counsel that the 1954 designations of the VA Administrator as Chairman of the Veterans Day National Committee applied to all subsequent VA Administrators. Since March 1989 when VA was elevated to a cabinet level department, the Secretary of Veterans Affairs has served as the committee’s chairman.

The Uniform Holiday Bill (Public Law 90-363 (82 Stat. 250)) was signed on June 28, 1968, and was intended to ensure three day weekends for Federal employees by celebrating four national holidays on Mondays. The first Veterans Day under the new law was observed with much confusion on October 25, 1971. It was quite apparent that the commemoration of this day was a matter of historic and patriotic significance to a great number of citizens, and so on September 20th, 1975, President Gerald R. Ford signed Public Law 94-97 (89 Stat. 479), which returned the annual observance of Veterans Day to its original date of November 11, beginning in 1978. This action supported the desires of the overwhelming majority of state legislatures, all major veterans’ service organizations and the American people.

Veterans Day continues to be observed on November 11, regardless of what day of the week on which it falls. The restoration of the observance of Veterans Day to November 11 not only preserves the historical significance of the date, but helps focus attention on the important purpose of Veterans Day: A celebrations to honor America’s veterans for their patriotism, love of country, and willingness to serve and sacrifice for the common good.

Have a great day of celebration and acknowledge our veterans, not on this dedicated day, but on each and every day; they gave and continue to give so much.

"The Road Less Traveled"

By Mike Perry, Assistant Secretary

"There's a road a winding road that never ends" is the start of a song sung by George Strait. Mr. Strait is a country singer, actor cowboy and stand-up gentleman. I do not know if Mr. Strait is a Mason or if the writers Buddy Brock and Dean Dillon are either. However, if there was ever a song made for Masons this is the song:

"The Road Less Traveled"

There's a road a winding road that never ends
Full of curves lessons learned at every bend
Goin's rough unlike the straight and narrow
It's for those who go against the grain
Have no fear dare to dream of change
Live to march to the beat of a different drummer
And it all might come together
Or it all might come unraveled
On the road less traveled
For the road less traveled ain't for the faint of heart
For those who choose to play it safe and never stray too far
Me I want to live my life and one day leave my mark
And it all might come together
And it all might come unraveled
On the road less traveled
I've chosen a pathway I may not endure
One thing's for certain nothing's for sure
And it all might come together
And it all might come unraveled
On the road less traveled
There's a road, a winding road that never ends

Masons are on a journey through life, filled with many twists and turns, it has curves that teach us lessons at every bend. Masons encounter these winding roads as we search further enlightenment. A Masonic journey can be rough unlike the straight and narrow. There are hours of studying, memorizing, reciting, mentoring and the dreaded proficiency in front of your fellow Brothers.

Some travel this road easier than others. After all, we are not all the same and our roads are different and the lessons that are learned are different. One Brother may just want to be an Entered Apprentice and belong to Masonic Fraternity and just enjoys being in a group where all men are equal. Others seek a different road, a road of education and enlightenment. Masonic Traditions go back hundreds and hundreds of years, all the way back Hiram Abiff. A person could spend a lifetime studying this great fraternity. Another road could be that of going through the chairs and becoming an officer and leading a lodge. All of these paths can be easy or hard for the individual person, but one thing is for sure, there are going to be lessons learned at every bend. One would have to ask himself "why do I want to be a Mason?" Chances are he wants to change or improve himself. Masonic Life is just that, a chance for people to go against the grain.... To be a better man and have no fear to dare to dream of change.

As Masons our Faith is our foundation and we all dream of the three principles of Faith, Hope and Charity. Ever remembering to have faith in God, hope of immortality, and most of all charity for all mankind. So one might say we have to live to the beat of different drummer. In the current climate of our society, this could not be truer. After all the greatest of these principles is Charity; for our Faith may be lost in sight, Hope end in fruition, but Charity extends beyond the grave, through the boundless realm of eternity. Which I think rounds out the first verse of the song "and it all might come together, and it all might come unraveled, on the road less traveled".

Life gets in the way. Careers, kids, marriage, divorce, separations, sickness or other Masonic obligations can all be factors for members to stray away from the Blue Lodge. As we all know the work is done in the Blue Lodge and are reminded, no matter what lodge you are raised in, we must never stray to far from our obligation we all took.

"Me I want to live my life and one day leave my mark"

By the exercise of Brotherly Love, we are taught to regard the whole human species as one family. The high and the low, the rich and the poor, who, as created by one Almighty Parent, and inhabitants of the same planet, are to aid, support and protect each other. On this principle Masonry unites men of every country, sect and opinion; and causes true friendships to exist among those who might have remained at a perpetual distance.

To relieve the distressed is a duty incumbent on all men, but particularly on Masons, who are linked together by an indissoluble chain of sincere affection. To soothe the unhappy, to sympathize with their misfortunes, to compassionate their miseries, and to restore peace to their troubled minds, is the great aim we have in view. On this basis, we form our friendships and establish our connections.

Truth is a divine attribute and the foundation of every virtue. To be good and true is the first lesson we are taught in Masonry. On this theme, we contemplate and by its dictates endeavor to regulate our conduct. While influenced by this principle, hypocrisy and deceit are unknown among us; sincerity and plain dealing distinguish us; and with heart and tongue we join in promoting each other's welfare and rejoicing in each other's prosperity. (Taken from the Candidate's First-Degree Manual.)

These three tenets are the pinnacle set forth for Masons to live by, to strive for, and, like many Masons have done and will do future, and will aide Masons in making their mark both in lodge and out in the communities in which we live.

"I've chosen a pathway I may not endure, one thing's for certain and nothing's for sure, And it all might come together, And it all might come unraveled--- On the road less traveled"

My Brothers, we have chosen a path that we may not endure all the many hardships, happiness and life lessons. Yet it is not certain any of these things will ever happen. We are faced Masonically with critical decisions every day, not knowing what we may endure along the way. We as Masons have the opportunity to choose our own road, ever remembering to first invoke the blessing of God, follow your faith and fear not what he or they can do unto you. And remember the Common Gavel Free and Accepted Masons use for the noble and glorious purpose of divesting our hearts and consciences of all the vices and superfluities of life; thereby fitting our minds, as living stones, for that spiritual building-that house not made with hands-eternal in the heavens. Please don't let it come unraveled, remember, there's a road, a winding road that never ends... a Road Less Traveled!

Thank you for reading why I think George Strait's "A Road Less Traveled" fits Masonic Life and helps us to understand all the choices we have as we wind and turn as we travel through life!

Octoberfest

Late September through October

The first Oktoberfest was held October 12, 1810, in honor of the marriage of Crown prince Ludwig of Bavaria to Princess Therese von Saxony Hildburghausen. Since that time it has become, above all else, a celebration of German beer. The Lord Mayor of Munich, Germany, opens the first barrel, and the 16 day festival begins. Both citizens and tourists flock to the event, which is marked by folk costume parades in which brewery horses draw floats and decorated beer wagons through the streets. Oktoberfest celebrations modeled on the German festival are also held in cities throughout the United States.
